The views of the manager...

GOOD afternoon everybody and a warm welcome to Huish Park to Danny Wilson, his backroom staff and his Swindon team.

I'm sure you will also all give a great welcome to two of our old boys who return this afternoon in the shape of Michael Rose and Kevin Amankwaah.

Both players enjoyed successful spells at the club after being signed by former boss Gary Johnson.

Saturday's result at Brighton was disappointing but we had some of our better players missing.

When you're missing five or six of your first team players, for a team like Yeovil it's a big miss. But the ones that came in gave me everything and I can't fault them on that.

We battled well in the first half but as soon as that first goal went in, I knew then that we were struggling.

They had a really good spell and had a few chances so we had to stand up to that. But they are top of the table for a reason and they play very good football.

Today it's Swindon for which I'm sure will be a very tasty local derby.

Matches against Swindon are always tight affairs but we have been playing really well lately despite the last two defeats and I am really confident that back here at home we can give a really good showing.

Hopefully we will have most of our injured players back in contention which should help to strengthen the team.

What we have to do is to turn our good form into three points and move away from the bottom of the table.

Swindon, like ourselves, have had mixed results of late and I am sure Danny Wilson will be just as keen to pick up the points so expect a bit of a battle.

It seems there are no easy games in this league these days so we will have to roll up our sleeves and get stuck in.

Yet again the FA Cup draw sees

GIVING THEIR ALL: The likes of Ed Upson and the other players who came in to replace the injured at Brighton all performed admirably us playing away with a trip to play against our old friends Rushden and Diamonds managed by my friend Justin Edinburgh.

"MATCHES AGAINST SWINDON ARE ALWAYS TIGHT AFFAIRS BUT WE HAVE BEEN PLAYING REALLY WELL LATELY DESPITE THE LAST TWO DEFEATS"

We will be looking to turn the tables on Rushden though following our previous meeting in the cup when we were beaten 3-1.

All lower league clubs need a good cup run and we shall be doing all we can to get that run started at Nene Park.

So as usual get behind the lads today and let's see if we can all have a good weekend.

Have a safe journey home.

Boardroom matters...

GOOD afternoon everyone and welcome to the players, officials and supporters of Swindon Town who have made the trip to Huish Park. I hope they enjoy their stay with us and have a safe journey home.

Although we've not gained a point from our last two matches at home to Sheffield Wednesday and away at Brighton, the performances were encouraging and probably merited more.

Against Wednesday we enjoyed the lion's share of possession and managed twice as many attempts on goal as our opponents but a moment of sheer brilliance from substitute Jermaine Johnson put the visitors in the driving seat and a late penalty from Tommy Miller enabled the Owls to take the points back to Yorkshire.

At Brighton we were forced to withdraw Adam Virgo and Shaun MacDonald from the starting line up due to injury and illness and with Craig Alcock and Stefan Stam also unavailable we had to improvise with the team by playing Owain Tudur Jones in the centre of defence and giving Ed Upson his first league start in midfield.

We played extremely well for the first 40 minutes or so, making it difficult for the South coast side to play and passed the ball well ourselves.

Sadly a goal just before half time put the League leaders in front and a second strike early in the second period effectively ended our hopes of a good result.

After those two setbacks it is important we bounce back and strive for another sequence of unbeaten matches. It's going to be tough, with today's opponents looking to find the form that propelled them to the play offs last season.

Swindon did the double over us in the last campaign in response to us beating them twice the previous year so we must certainly look to reverse that situation again this season.

Injuries and illness have, unfortunately, been impacting the players'

VERSATILE: Owain Tudur Jones did a good job as a makeshift centre back in last weekend's defeat to Brighton preparation these last few weeks but the lads have been working very hard to try and improve our goals to chances ratio.

"IT IS IMPORTANT WE BOUNCE BACK AND STRIVE FOR ANOTHER SEQUENCE OF UNBEATEN MATCHES"

The draw for the first round of the FA Cup held last Sunday contained its usual tension and excitement and it produced a number of local derbies as well as a repeat of our 2006-07 tie with old Conference rivals Rushden and Diamonds.

It will no doubt be a very difficult game but the lads will be determined to secure a much better result than the one we endured at our last visit to Nene Park.

It's an important match which will play a part in defining our season. I'm sure that with your vocal support we can achieve the result we need to put us into the second round draw.

In the meantime, we are focused on securing three points today to pull away from the bottom four in the table. Please get behind the team today with your usual encouragement and vigour. It really does help.

Enjoy the game and take care.

SAM LOOKING TO BRING UP HALF CENTURY

IF selected today, Glovers striker Sam Williams will be bringing up his 50th appearance for the club.

Since joining at the start of last season big Sam has become a key player for Town.

So far he has netted five goals in the green and white of Yeovil, and let's hope he can bring up his half century in style by adding to that tally today.

HEADS UP: Sam in action during his 49th appearance against Brighton

ED DELIGHTED TO MAKE FULL DEBUT

MAKING your full debut for a new team is always a special day in the memory of any professional player so when Ed Upson was drafted into the Yeovil team to play Brighton on Saturday the former Ipswich midfielder was buzzing at the prospect.

Ed made an encouraging debut with the manager praising his contribution but the result did somewhat ruin Ed's day.

But when I caught up with him there was still that special feeling of making a good debut for his new club.

"I am delighted to have made my debut but it was very disappointing to lose the game," he said. "I knew on the morning of the game that I was playing, so I was able to prepare myself, I had a good pre-match and was looking forward to it.

BY ADRIAN HOPPER

"It was very different to coming off the bench. You have got to get yourself straight into it and I enjoyed myself.

"I basically had to do what a midfielder does and do a bit of everything. I was not given any specific things to do, but the manager believed in me and hopefully I can show him what I can do.

Having now made his full debut for the Glovers Ed is hoping he can get plenty more games under his belt.

"I have got to push on, keep improving and show the manager what I can do to hopefully get some more appearances.

"You always set yourself targets as a player and I look to play as many games as possible, scoring goals. But it is still early days and there is still plenty of time to go."

SINCE JOINING YEOVIL TOWN FROM ARSENAL, YOUNGSTER LUKE AYLING HAS PROVEN TO BE A VERY VERSATILE PLAYER HAVING ALREADY PLAYED IN SEVERAL DIFFERENT POSITIONS FOR THE GLOVERS. CHRIS SPITTLES CAUGHT UP WITH THE MAN WHO IS HAPPY PROVING HIMSELF IN WHATEVER POSITION THE MANAGER CHOOSES TO PLAY HIM >>

T EENAGER Luke Ayling is emerging as the Glovers' 'Mr Versatile' this season - and admits it's a role he's happy to fulfil.

Signed from Arsenal as a central defender in the summer, the 19-year-old started the campaign in central midfield.

But he's also lined up in the middle of the back four, on the right of midfield and most recently at right-back in the absence of injured Town captain Craig Alcock.

"I think my versatility is a good thing at this stage of my career and I even played at right wing away at Notts County earlier in the season which was a bit different," said Ayling.

"I think being able to play in a number of positions makes me more of an asset for the gaffer to be able to call upon, especially as we've got a relatively small squad.

"But sooner or later I've got to look to hold down one spot in the team and get a long run in the side, hopefully for the rest of the season."

With Owain Tudur Jones, Shaun MacDonald, Gavin Williams and Jean-Paul Kalala all hoping to occupy the midfield spots, competition in that area of the team is fierce.

But while Ayling may be happy

"BEING ABLE TO PLAY IN A NUMBER OF POSITIONS MAKES ME MORE OF AN ASSET FOR THE GAFFER TO BE ABLE TO CALL UPON"

playing at right-back at the moment, he still has eyes on a midfield berth.

The youngster said: "I've been playing full-back in recent games and that is something that I really don't mind doing.

"I've been filling in there while Craig Alcock is injured but when he's fit again I'd like to be challenging for a place in central midfield again.

"At the moment I think central midfield is my best position because I'm still young and learning the game and also need to develop physically.

"I think I need to get more experience before I play more games in central defence and midfield suits me at this stage of my career.

"I enjoy playing in there, my fitness levels are good so I can get around the pitch and I like a tackle so I think I fit in in midfield.

"I enjoy getting forward as well and I can do that when I play in midfield or when I'm at right-back. I wouldn't be able to do it if I was at centre-back."

Ayling made his Football League debut for Yeovil during a loan spell at Huish Park at the end of last season.

And having only experienced youth and reserve team football with Arsenal, he's been pleased to make the step up.

He said: "It's great at Yeovil. I'm really enjoying myself and playing first team football on a regular basis is great experience for me.

"Here at Yeovil we are playing for points and we are battling to move up the table. The games have a purpose.

COMPETITIVE

"At Arsenal when I played in games it was all about player development and there wasn't any pressure on us.

"But that has to change at some point in your career and I'm getting the competitive games now."

However, Ayling also admits that he's found his first full season in League 1 tough going.

After starting the season at the heart of Terry Skiverton's new-look Yeovil team, he was handed a rest by the manager after six games - which was a welcome relief.

Ayling said: "Before the start of the season I hadn't played in that many games in the league and suddenly I was playing every match which meant two tough games every week.

"I hadn't played that many competitive games in a row before and if I'm honest I was getting tired.

"The gaffer took me out of the side to get a rest and I think it did me a lot of good because I've come back quite sharp and feeling fresh.

"I thought that because I'm a young lad I would be able to come straight in and play every game straight off without a problem. But you can't do that. It's so tiring."

Ayling joined Arsenal when he was eight and had more than 10 years with the north London giants before leaving on a free transfer.

But he insists he feels privileged to have come through the ranks at one of the top clubs in Europe.

Ayling added: "It was great to grow up at Arsenal. All the training is football related and it's a great education in the game.

"I had some very good people to learn from at Arsenal as well. Steve Bould was a brilliant defender for the club and he was my coach for two years.

"I improved so much under his tutelage. He's not just a good coach, he's a great person and he played more than 500 games for Arsenal so he knows what he's talking about, especially when it comes to defending.

"As a young centre half in the Arsenal youth team I couldn't really have had anyone better teaching me.

"I joined Arsenal when I was eight and that was when Tony Adams and the famous back four with Bould, Lee Dixon and Nigel Winterburn were still playing.

"Then after that Sol Campbell stood out for me, and in both of his spells with the club as well.

"When he came back to Arsenal last year I got to know him really well. I trained with him and played in the reserves with him and he really impressed me.

"He was such a great pro and the way he got back fit after his spell at Notts County to get back in the Arsenal team and play at the top level was amazing to see.

SWITCHED

"He was a brilliant communicator on the pitch as well, talking all the time, and he taught me to always stay switched on when you're on the pitch.

"I picked up a lot of tips from Sol and also when I trained with the rest of the first team towards the end of my time with Arsenal.

"Now I need to put all that into practice with Yeovil because we're playing at a good level against decent pros."

And while Ayling currently regards himself as a central midfielder, he still hopes to follow in Campbell's footsteps later in his career - once he's bulked up.

"I hope I'll end up in central defence in the long-term, but I know that I need to get stronger," said the teenager. "I need to get to the gym and build up some muscle!

"I am working on it, trying my best. It is taking some time but I'm trying my best and I'm only 19 so I've got plenty of time."

JED An alternative take on football... PITMAN

AS I've got a bit older, I've started to recount my younger days, sometimes through rose-tinted glasses.

One thing I can recall almost as if it was yesterday was starting out as a football journalist. My career had begun with a concentration on all things cricket, but then, in the early 1990s I was asked to report on a club called Swindon Town by the BBC.

Admittedly, the only thing I knew about the team before I began to cover them was that they had famously faced the wrath of the Football Association at the start of that decade.

They had been promoted to the top flight via the play-offs but, after a hearing regarding things far too complicated, the head honchos at the FA had donned some black hats and sentenced the bad boys to a double demotion, three years hard labour and being forced to listen to Country and Western music while having their feet tickled with a fluffy feather.

By the time I arrived at the County Ground for the first time, the club had put those dark days behind them and were looking to show the games' top brass that they could still be a force to be reckoned with.

On one of my first days at the Beeb, I was interviewing their new manager, Glenn 'Early Doors' Hoddle, before he started fiddling with crystals, taking the advice of a mad woman and reaping what he sowed.

Two entertaining years later and Hoddle had guided his team to an extraordinary promotion to the Premier League coming with a brilliant 4-3 Play-off Final win over Leicester at Wembley.

Having given away a 3-0 lead in the blink of an eye (actually while I was in the toilet), Swindon won at the end thanks to a disputed penalty after

WELL done to Danny Wilson who has now survived in the manager's role at Swindon for a couple of years. During their more troubled times they managed to get through eight managers in fewer than eight seasons. After the luckless Jimmy Quinn was given the boot at the turn of the century, Colin Todd, Andy King (twice), Roy Evans, Ify Onuora, Dennis Wise, Paul Sturrock and Maurice Malpas all had a go but my favourite was head coach Razor Ruddock who was supposed to play as well but couldn't do so until specially made large shorts were made for him. They like big names in Swindon.

BIG: Neil Ruddock during his Swindon days

Steve White fell over as if hit by a powerful and mysterious gust of wind.

I remember heading for my car and seeing some irate Leicester supporters surrounding the Swindon coach with White doing diving impressions out of the skylight.

SUCCESS

It was priceless as was the scene in the town when we arrived back later that night. If ever you wanted to see what sporting success could do to a small provincial town then you should have been there on that long, long night, one which turned into an even longer morning.

Of course, Hoddle then left for Chelsea leaving his bezzie mate, John Gorman, in charge. In all the years of covering sport, I have rarely come across a man as nice as John although we had some major fallings out in what was a bit of a disastrous single season in the Premier League when they conceded an incredible 100 League goals.

The season had many downs but my favourite moment was in the now defunct Anglo Italian Cup when Swindon had been drawn away in Venice. At training one morning, their striker, Keith Scott, appeared to be struggling a bit. It turned out that he had left his contact lenses in England and now couldn't see the ball. But even better was travelling to the match from the hotel.

Naturally, the football ground in Venice is on a small island and as we got on a boat to get to the match, there appeared to be some concerned faces from the crew. We soon realised why.

We were fighting against the tide and as hard as the captain tried the further we drifted away from the ground, eventually arriving an hour late for the kick-off. Needless to say defeat followed.

John eventually blamed me personally for his sacking but he had the last laugh. Not only did he go off to England but he left me to deal with Steve McMahon, a man who was soon pinning me against a wall in a Finnish hotel, something which led to my own resignation.

I trust that things are much calmer these days in Wiltshire.

BACK IN BUSINESS: Striker Charlie Austin has netted two goals since returning from a dislocated shoulder that kept him out at the start of the season

SURPRISE play-off finalists last season, Swindon Town have found life more of a struggle this time round.

The traditional play-off hangover was clear to see as the Robins took just three points from their first five games.

Three straight wins hinted at progress, but they have since lost to rock-bottom Dagenham and arrive at Huish Park on the back of a 2-2 draw with struggling Leyton Orient and a dramatic 5-4 defeat to Peterborough.

The loss of skipper Gordon Greer to Brighton hasn't helped, nor has the departure of last season's top-scorer Billy Paynter, who joined Leeds in June.

And to compound matters, Wilson also lost the prolific Charlie Austin to a dislocated shoulder in early September – although the young striker returned a fortnight ago and has hit two goals in two games.

BY CHRIS DUNLAVY

Wilson started the season playing 4-4-2 but has since shifted to a more defensive 4-5-1, with either Austin or Vincent Pericard playing as a lone front man.

Pericard missed the game against Orient through injury but may tempt Wilson to field a two-man strike force if he can return to fitness.

In the middle, Jon-Paul McGovern and skipper Jonathan Douglas offer experience, while the centre-back Scott Cuthbert is gradually filling the void left by Greer at centre-back.

DID YOU KNOW?
THE highest Charity Shield scoreline to date was 8-4 when Southern League champions Swindon Town lost at Stamford Bridge on September 25, 1911 to Football League champions, Manchester United. Some of the proceeds from this match were later donated to the survivors of the Titanic.

GOALKEEPERS

DESPITE being hauled off at half-time after conceding three against Peterborough, ex-Leeds keeper DAVID LUCAS returned to the side against Orient and remains Wilson's preferred No.1.

The 32-year-old – who started out at Preston and tasted promotion from League 1 with Sheffield Wednesday – missed just two games last term and is an experienced voice behind the back four.

Ex-Crawley man PHIL SMITH, though, is snapping at his heels. His first season in 2005-06 aside, the 30-year-old has always been the understudy at the County Ground, but Smith is dependable when called upon – as he showed in the second leg of last season's Play-off Semi-final with Charlton when he pulled off a string of fine saves to send Swindon to Wembley.

DEFENDERS

WITH Gordon Greer gone, 23-year-old SCOTT CUTHBERT is now the senior partner in Swindon's centre-back pairing.

Signed from Celtic in July 2009, the powerful six-footer wasted no time forcing his way into the side and immediately formed a solid partnership with Greer.

Good in both boxes (he scored three goals last term and has one this year) he has missed just two games since his arrival at the County Ground.

Having been the victim of Cuthbert's good form last term, 19-year-old SEAN MORRISON is now playing alongside him. The robust stopper came into the side when he was just 17 but has struggled to hold down a place and spent much of last season on loan at Southend.

However, he is now making the shirt his own and has impressed with two goals in his 11 games so far.

At right-back, former Glover KEVIN AMANKWAH could find his place under threat after a torrid two weeks. Having scored an own goal against Peterborough, the 28-year-old was then tortured by Orient winger Dean Cox before going off injured and may be replaced by either Paul Caddis or the fit again LECSINEL JEAN-FRANCOIS.

DID YOU KNOW?

SWINDON conceded a record 100 goals in their only season in the Premier League. However, they scored the most goals against Manchester United in the league that season when they put four past the champions.

Jean-Francois is a Haitian international who spent last season at left-back, but the tall, athletic 24-year-old is capable of playing anywhere across the back line. Injuries have hampered his progress this term, meaning ALAN SHEEHAN and MICHAEL

ROSE have leapt ahead of him in the pecking order.

With Sheehan suspended, expect former Yeovil man Rose to start on the left. The 28-year-old – who started his career with Manchester United and played 37 games for the Glovers in 2004-05 – scored with a belter of a

MIDFIELDERS

WILSON'S favoured 4-5-1 has

However, with skipper JONATHAN

DOUGLAS (foot) and the experienced DAVID PRUTTON (virus) both set to return in central midfield, that is likely to change.

If Douglas is fit, he will be the first name on the team-sheet thanks to his leadership, experience and ball-winning ability. Named captain on Greer's departure, the 28-year-old Irish international didn't miss a single game last season.

Like Douglas and Lucas, Prutton is a former Leeds favourite who has also played for Nottingham Forest, Southampton and Colchester. Capped 25 times by England Under-21s, Prutton, 29, is a tough, technical player with a good eye for a pass.

The only other out-and-out central midfielder is Ferry, who joined from Celtic in the summer after a hugely successful loan spell last term.

The diminutive 22-year-old's box-to-box running saw him score three goals in 43 games and Wilson pulled out all the stops to land his man permanently.

While Scottish pair McGovern and Caddis have also played centrally in recent weeks, both are happier out on the right.

Former Sheffield Wednesday man McGovern has played the majority of his career as a right-winger and was a key figure as Swindon reached the Play-offs last year, playing in every single league and cup game.

Caddis, a six-figure summer signing from Celtic, played 25 times for the Bhoys, including two Champions League appearances. He is a natural right-back, but has so far been deployed right across midfield by Wilson.

The man in possession of the right wing berth is Manchester City loanee Ball. The 20-year-old is actually a striker but his pace and athleticism have come in handy out wide and seen him bag two goals in ten games.

On the left, it should be a straight fight between Ritchie and ALAN O'BRIEN. Ritchie, 21, is on loan from Portsmouth, for whom he played five games at the start of the season. Quick and direct, he has started the last three and scored against Peterborough.

O'Brien, meanwhile, joined from Hibernian last summer but has been hampered by a recurrent hamstring injury.

However, the 25-year-old Irishman is now fully fit and has already started four games – the same as in the whole of last season.

THE County Ground is the only football stadium in the world with a Rolex watch acting as its timekeeper. The clock on the Stratton Bank Stand featuring its name was erected to celebrate promotion to the Second Division in 1963.

FORWARDS

TO say Danny Wilson has slim pickings up top is putting it mildly.

With Ball playing as a winger, the Robins boss only has three forwards to choose from and all have been hampered by injury this season.

The main man is undoubtedly CHARLIE AUSTIN, who has a truly sensational goalscoring record. The 21-year-old hit 46 goals in 46 games for Non-League Poole Town in the 2008-09 season, prompting Swindon to sign him up.

He then scored six in six reserve games, leaving fans clamouring for his inclusion in the first team.

Duly promoted to partner Billy Paynter, Austin made himself an instant hero with 20 goals in 31 games and has followed that up with another

2008-Present: Swindon Town

AS a midfielder with the likes of Chesterfield, Brighton, Luton and Sheff Wednesday, Wilson made more than 600 League appearances and notched over 100 goals.

That attacking intent is obvious in the way he sets up his teams, with emphasis placed on width and getting the ball quickly into the front men.

Having rescued the Robins from relegation after taking over on Boxing Day 2008, Wigan-born Wilson carried that momentum into the 2009-10 season and built an attacking, vibrant side that very nearly clinched promotion.

Play-off defeat to Millwall scuppered what would have been the 50-year-old's third promotion, having led Hartlepool from League 2 in 2006-07 and, most famously, taken Barnsley into the top flight for the first time in their 110-year history.

Achieved back in 1997 as a rookie manager, that feat made Wilson's name and, while the Tykes' stay lasted just one year, he went on to manage Sheff Wednesday, Bristol City and MK Dons.

TALENT: Midfielder Simon Ferry joined the Robins on a permanent deal this summer after a successful spell last season on loan from Celtic five in seven starts this term.

With Austin having missed the last month, Wilson has relied on VINCENT PERICARD, the much-travelled Frenchman who numbers Juventus, Portsmouth and Stoke amongst his former clubs.

Still only 27, the 6ft 1in hold-up man has had dreadful luck with injuries, and should probably be playing a lot higher than League 1. With excellent touch and technique Pericard has two goals this term, but missed the last match with a foot injury.

That just leaves THOMAS DOSSEVI, a French-born Togolese who joined Swindon from Nantes in the summer.

It is the skilful 31-year-old's first season in English football but he has adapted well, making seven starts and scoring twice.

FAN SINCE

HOW DID YOU BECOME A SWINDON TOWN FAN?

IT was a family thing. My father took me way back in 1979!

WHAT HAVE BEEN THE BEST MOMENTS AS A SWINDON FAN?

OBVIOUSLY the promotion to the Premier League and that season in the big time.

We finished bottom but as Lord Tennyson once wrote: "It's better to have loved and lost, than never to have loved at all". I loved it!

Winning 3-0 at Leeds last season was fun but not getting back to the car afterwards!

AND THE WORST?

THE double demotion after winning the play-offs to Division 1 in the early 1990s.

More recently, the spell with Maurice Malpas as manager and the 'no show' by the team in the Play-off Final against Millwall.

HOW HAVE YOU FOUND THINGS THIS SEASON?

IT'S been a mixed bag, with no consistency.

We can beat the top sides but then lose to the bottom ones. It's been frustrating for some fans who thought we would storm the league after reaching the Play-off Final but football isn't like that!

HOW DO YOU THINK SWINDON TOWN AND YEOVIL WILL FARE THIS SEASON?

STILL early days and the league this season is very tight and a good or poor run can make a huge difference.

GOOD TIMES: Swindon's Micky Hazard tries to escape the attentions of Manchester United's Roy Keane during the Robins' one season in the big time back in 1993

For Swindon I predict a top ten finish and hopefully a good run in the Johnstone's Paint Trophy.

For Yeovil I predict a mid table finish and another famous FA Cup scalp!

IF YOU COULD PICK ONE PLAYER FROM ANOTHER LEAGUE 1 TEAM, WHO WOULD YOU HAVE AND WHY?

BRADLEY Wright-Phillips of Plymouth. Quick, mobile and would be a great partner for Charlie Austin.

PREDICT YOUR TOP THREE AND BOTTOM FOUR FOR THE END OF THE SEASON?

TOP three of Sheffield Wednesday, Brighton and Huddersfield in the Play-offs (please not Southampton!).

For the bottom four I can see Dagenham & Redbridge, Walsall, Hartlepool United and Brentford.

FINALLY NAME YOUR ALL TIME SWINDON TOWN XI?

MY all-time XI would be: Fraser Digby, Colin Calderwood, Shaun Taylor, David Kerslake, Paul Bodin, Kevin Horlock, Ray McHale, John Moncur (pictured), Don Rogers, Jan Aage Fjortoft and Charlie Austin. And on the bench I would have Dave Syrett, Chris Kamara and Jon Gittens.

BY JAMES ANDREW

In the same week that Wayne Rooney's protracted contract negotiations were played out in front of the world's media, The Football League unveiled a memorial to the players and fans who fought side by side in The Footballers' Battalion during The Great War.

Football has a way of throwing up great contrasts and here was another. While one of the stars of the current game was being rewarded with a staggering £200,000 plus a week contract, the heroes of yesterday were being remembered for something far more important with a simple slab of marble and some eloquent words.

The facts are that from the 17th and 23rd Middlesex Footballers' Battalions more than 1,000 players and fans died while about 2,000 suffered injuries.

UNVEILED

Most of the injuries came in the battle of Delville Wood – or Devil's Wood as the troops re-named it – on the edge of the tiny village of Longueval in northern France, where the memorial was unveiled.

The Football League organised a party of dignitaries and players to attend the ceremony. They included Phil Stant who organised the memorial, Wycombe player Gareth Ainsworth, and Millwall chief executive Andy Ambler. All of them agreed with Football League chairman Greg Clarke who said that current players, and especially academy members, should pay a visit to the memorial to gain understanding.

As Clarke said: "The problem with football is it can be all-consuming but it's not all of life. I'd support bringing young footballers out here, to give them a sense of perspective to what true sacrifice is all about.

"Walking around those graves, seeing people aged 17, 18, 19, who ran into a wood with people running at them screaming, holding bayonets at them, and shells raining down on their heads is truly humbling."

Wycombe winger Ainsworth added: "The First World War was a massive part of our history and it is so important that it is not forgotten.

"I would encourage all players, especially the younger ones to visit the memorial and learn about what players their age went through for us."

Abler said he will ensure that the Millwall academy make a visit to the memorial and would encourage all players, academies and fans do the same.

The role of the Footballers' Battalions has been praised in historical writings of the Great War. But following the outbreak of hostilities in August 1914 the footballers were heavily criticised by notable personalities of the day like WG Grace and Field Marshall Lord Roberts who labelled them as "shirkers" for continuing to play the game while the majority of other sports had stopped.

It was as a result of the criticism that in November 1914 Brentford MP William Joynson Hicks raised the Footballers' Battalion following a meeting in Fulham Town Hall.

At first 35 professional footballers signed up, but within a few months there were more than 300 from clubs including Millwall, Reading, Clapton (now Leyton) Orient and Brighton and Hove Albion.

By 1918 only 30 of them were still alive. Many of the stories are documented in the book 'When the Whistle Blows' by Andrew Riddoch and John Kemp, which charts the stories of the 17th and 23rd Middlesex Footballers Battalions.

THE FOOTBALL LEAGUE PAPER IS OUT EVERY SUNDAY. AVAILABLE FROM ALL GOOD NEWSAGENTS

EVERY footballer has someone in their background who took a chance on them, showed belief in them when maybe others didn't and who indisputably shaped the way their career, and indeed life, turned out afterwards.

For manager Terry Skiverton, that person was Colin Lippiatt; a man who had taken Woking to multiple FA Trophy triumphs and who arrived at Huish Park in November 1997. Our manager takes up the story of how he ended up in Somerset.

"I knew about Colin as he visited Chelsea regularly when I was there and I had come down to Huish Park in April 1998 with Welling. We'd gone on a great unbeaten run and amazingly finished tenth in the end, a fantastic position for Welling.

"In that run, we came down to Yeovil and won 3-1.

"I thought my career was declining a little and started to question myself about what I wanted to do with my career. Then, in the summer of 1999, I think Al-James Hannigan left for Slough and Colin was looking for a replacement.

"It was down to a straight choice between Jason Goodliffe and me; Jason was an established Non-League centre half but Colin decided to take a chance on me. He knew what a lot of other people didn't and he had the foresight to show it with me.

"I remember coming down, agreeing terms and being really impressed with the place straight away, it was so professional. As soon as I met Colin, I wanted to sign for him just from the way he spoke; he was so enthusiastic and knew all of the players I had played with and against. As soon as I signed, I knew it was the right decision to play for Colin."

The pair would not be together at Yeovil for long as the former Woking boss didn't want to go full time by giving up his sales manager's job and left the Glovers a month into the new season.

The brief relationship didn't stop Yeovil's present manager from picking up a few ideas from his mentor, some of which will remain between the pair.

"I was impressed with the way he handled the press," admits Terry.

"He had a good way of dealing with players, he was methodical in his approach and it was good to watch him in action. One thing he did which I'd like to do too was to take chances with young players – he gave people like Dave Piper and Murray Fishlock the opportunity to play at a decent level as well.

"His knowledge of football outside of the league was unparalleled; he was one of the best managers around and it showed in the fact he was successful wherever he went."

The Town team at the time was a useful blend of youth and experience and Terry settled in well, admitting that the move shook him out of a comfort zone.

"It was a great move for me. Sometimes you need that definitive change in your life – mine was getting away from London and coming down to Yeovil. The penny definitely dropped when Colin gave me the chance here."

Eleven years later, Terry is still here but now he inhabits the manager's office where once Colin was based. One of Colin's last visits here was to manage a team in the testimonial for Terry in 2009, an afternoon that summed up Colin according to the boss.

"Everyone could see the sort of bloke he was when he was bouncing off Gary when they interviewed him on the mic. He had a certain way about him; he was very charismatic and quick-witted."

At 35, Terry is still a newbie in terms of management experience and style but his words of tribute to his mentor and first Glovers manager are as emotional as they are revealing.

"Yeovil to me is the best job in the world. I spoke to my wife and two little boys and told them that I wouldn't have been here doing this job, wouldn't have had all the success I've enjoyed down here if he hadn't brought me down here. My family, my life down here is down to Colin."

WHEN Colin Lippiatt arrived at Huish Park in November 1997, it was in a head coach capacity to assist manager Graham Roberts.

His arrival coincided with a run of six successive wins producing 19 goals and progress in two cup competitions.

Four months later, he took over as manager and led the Glovers to a creditable eleventh place in their first season back in the Conference.

CHARISMA

MARTIN McCONACHIE PAYS TRIBUTE TO FORMER YEovil TOWN MANAGER COLIN LIPPIATT, WHO SADLY PASSED AWAY THIS MONTH

There was even silverware to polish as they lifted the Somerset Premier Cup and a prolific end to the season winning the last two games scoring ten goals.

Colin's first full season saw fifth place in the Conference along with a strong FA Trophy run to the fifth round and a fluke exit to Cardiff City in the FA Cup third round after a replay.

The likeable ex-Woking boss then had to decide to resign or go full-time with the Glovers and chose the former option after much deliberation.

Colin Lippiatt was one of those managers who made a difference. Everywhere he managed, he made a positive impact at that club and, with Geoff Chapple at Woking, formed the most successful managerial partnership in Non-League football history. His teams played with flair and invention and were a reflection of himself as he liked to play the game.

Charisma, friendliness and charm aren't necessarily vital to succeed in football management but when you have it in bucket loads, it endears you to a supporter which is never a bad thing.

'Big Col' had all three qualities and many more besides, and this is why his passing has left the football world mourning his absence.

He will never be forgotten by fans of many clubs, not least of all Yeovil Town to whom he brought our present manager Terry Skiverton.

"OH, the cruel hands of time..."
Ermintrude from The Magic Roundabout.

We welcome near neighbours and close rivals, Swindon, to Somerset for today's League 1 encounter.

Swindon is of course associated with the notorious magic roundabout which is very close to the County Ground; this is one reason why I picked today's quotation, the other being a reflection on how two games can affect the league position.

After two excellent away wins, we unluckily lost to Sheffield Wednesday, and then again at Brighton making today's result even more important.

I am pleased to confirm that, following last year's highly successful Christmas dinner and dance, the same venue has been booked for this year. The Haynes Motor Museum at Sparkford boasts excellent facilities and offers a superb traditional menu.

We have been able to keep the price the same as last year at £35.00 per head. This represents excellent value for money and the price includes free access to the museum as well as the meal and dancing the night away to a brilliant live band who specialize in the music of the sixties.

Hopefully, there will be flyers available today which will give you full details but I urge you to book your place as soon as possible through Chris White or any committee member.

Finally, here is another trivia question to test your Saturday brain. Under what name did Diana Mary Fluck who was born in Swindon find fame? Jot down your answer and hand it to me by the end of the game. The correct answer will be revealed at the after-match announcements.

Enjoy the game; cheer us on to victory and have a safe trip home.

BY ALI KING

CHARLTON Athletic gave Yeovil Town Ladies a harsh lesson in the realities of Premier League football last Sunday as they came away from Raleigh Grove with a convincing 4-0 victory.

The Addicks took advantage of a lacklustre Glovers first half performance to drill home all four goals in the opening 45 minutes, giving Steve Phelps' side no way back, despite an improved second half performance.

"I felt shell shocked after the game," Phelps said. "We started off well in the opening ten minutes or so, and then they scored their first goal and the floodgates opened."

"For the rest of the first half we were off the pace, our marking was slack and our shape was gone right across the park."

"Our heads went down and we just folded. We had a 25-minute spell when they were totally all over us, and we just could not rectify it."

The Quedam Centre is proud to be the main sponsor of Yeovil Town Ladies and to be YTFC's official partner in the Kick Racism out Of Football and Give Racism the Red Card campaigns.

LADIES CONTINUE TO LEARN THE HARD WAY AFTER HEAVY CHARLTON DEFEAT

The girls also lost out the previous week, this time away at West Ham.

The league leaders won the match 2-0 with Steve Phelps admitting that he will think twice about travelling so far again without an overnight stay.

"We are definitely going to be looking into the validity of travelling such long distances in a single day. The girls looked beat after three and a half hours in the mini bus. I definitely think that we should be looking for an overnight stay before games like this in the future.

"But I am definitely not laying the whole blame on that. To be honest, in the first half we were having one of those days, coming second best against a good attacking West Ham team."

THE reserve team suffered a severe beating at the hands of Millwall Lionesses last weekend after they were beaten 9-1.

Reserve team manager Chris White said after the game: "We came up against a very good side, and were not at the races.

"I have a great bunch of players in the reserves, but on the whole they are very young, and we will get these kinds of results sometimes.

"Millwall added to the team we played earlier in the season, and that proved the difference between the two sides.

"I am pleased with the progress made this season, and the girls will definitely learn from this."

The previous week the girls recorded a superb result, beating a strong Portsmouth side 2-1.

Portsmouth took the lead in the second half, but White's team came back strongly, immediately forcing the opposition into an own goal, before Jodi Cornwall headed home the winner on 75 minutes.

"This was a hard earned victory against a decent Pompey side, but we need to improve and learn to keep the ball better," said White.

HAVING received a bye into the semi finals of this season's Somerset Women's Senior Cup, the Glovers have been drawn at home against fellow Premier League, Southern Division side Keynsham Town.

The match will take place at Raleigh Grove, Sherborne on Sunday, February 20, kicking off at 2.00pm.

WINNER: Jodi Cornwall scored the winning goal for the reserves in their 2-1 victory over Portsmouth

ON TARGET: Will Gordon netted a free-kick for the young Glovers

LATE FIGHTBACK NOT ENOUGH FOR YOUNG GLOVERS

EXETER City held on for all three points when they denied a late Glovers fightback from three goals down last Saturday.

The Grecians had built up the lead and looked comfortable with ten minutes left before Will Gordon and Rob Clowes pulled two goals back.

However, a breakaway goal in stoppage time ensured all three points went back down the A30 to Devon.

The visitors had taken the lead after 12 minutes and doubled their advantage on the half hour as the hosts were punished for their errors. The score remained at 2-0 until the 55th minute when the Grecians made it three.

The fightback was started with ten minutes to go when Gordon curled a low free kick into the net off the post and four minutes later, it was well and truly game on as Clowes slid a shot under the keeper from a tight angle.

But in the dying moments of the match, the Grecians added a fourth as Yeovil pressed for a leveller.

Manager Scott Green, speaking after the match, expressed his frustration saying: "Exeter played the better football initially, we were below par today. We gave the ball away too cheaply and we have to smarten up our decision making."

LOTS OF FUN HAD AT HALF TERM SOCCER SCHOOLS

BY MARCUS PARTRIDGE

THE Yeovil Town Community Sports Trust hosted two Half Term Soccer Schools this week where coaches Marcus Partridge, Simon Trubridge, Kris Martin and Mike Neish were joined by nearly 50 children aged from 5-14.

Each day started with the children participating in some crazy races, which involved them using their speed and agility combined with their close ball control to gain victory for their team.

The children then played games such as skills corridor, changing rooms and ball manipulation work in order for them to achieve good quality ball control and encourage the youngsters to work with the ball close at their feet.

The children enjoyed participating in games such as 'lightning' and 'killer', where they worked on their shooting, goalkeeping and ball control in order to become the winner of the game.

Lunch was followed by quiz questions which were football related. This provided the children with a chance to interact with the coaches more, and show off their football knowledge as well as their skills.

SPOOKY! Some of the children who attended the Half Term Soccer School at Wyke Primary School, Gillingham

The afternoon started with games such as 'numbers', 'attackers vs defenders' and 'lightning' (a real favourite of the kids) which was then followed by a lengthy tournament which the children participated in.

The next Soccer School takes place on December 20 and 21 at Alvington Training Complex from 10.00am until 3.00pm. The cost is £20.00 for the two days.

To book your child/children on the course, please contact Sara Bradley or Roy O'Brien on 01935 847 876 or alternatively download a booking form from www.ytfc.net.

■ DISABLED SUPPORTERS ASSOCIATION

ALL members should now have received their sponsorship form for Mike Rowsell's sponsored swim on November 15 at Goldenstones Leisure Centre Pool, to raise funds for the DSA.

The school expressed their excitement that Andy Welsh is the player that will visit them and they are really getting involved in the 'Adopt a School' programme. Roger and Sharon also visited Derby last Thursday to attend a Football Association meeting concerning Disability Liaison Officers.

Sadly, two of our members, Eva Chappell and Steve Dunn, have recently died. We send our thoughts and condolences to their families.

Disabled parking at the ground is with a permit issued by the Disabled

BEN Coombes is six years old and a pupil at Wyke Primary School in Gillingham.

He has been coming to Huish Park with his dad, Mark for the last 18 months. This photo was taken before our match against Tranmere in September and like most supporters Ben likes to watch us score goals.

He was hoping 'Supergav' was going to score on his return to the club, but despite Gavin not getting on the scoresheet, he was delighted with the performance and to see the three goals go in.

Ben has a brother Tom aged three. Ben thinks Tom is going to be a rugby player because he keeps tackling him, but he is going to try to persuade him to come to watch Yeovil Town when he is a bit older.

Headliner - James Sherwood

James Sherwood made his name in topical comedy, writing one-liners for commercial radio stations. During the 2005 general election campaign, his political material appeared on BBC Radio 1, 2, and 4. He has also written for Private Eye and is a frequent studio pundit on the Sky News Paper Review.

His debut Edinburgh show in 2006, 'I Know What You Did Last Sunday', was a total success and was followed in similar fashion with 2007's offering, 'James Sherwood's Surrealist Postcard Review Of 2007'. 2009's offering 'Gunga Of Mass' saw James returning for an hour of satire and songs.

With his sharp mind and unapologetic charm, Sherwood seems a natural heir to the respectable English tradition of smart, middle-class satire. - The Guardian

WHERE ARE THEY NOW?

JIMMY GILES

Date of Birth: April 21, 1946

Yeovil appearances: 86

Yeovil goals: 2

FOOTBALL has an uncanny habit of throwing up ironies and coincidences.

It was planned for today's subject Jimmy Giles to appear in this programme weeks ago yet he features today just two weeks after the death of the manager he took over from when he arrived at Huish, a certain Malcolm Allison.

He took over as Yeovil's player manager a few months before his 35th birthday, just like our own Terry Skiverton, with a reputation of being a strong centre half, just like Terry too.

Having played exactly 500 Football League games for Swindon (another coincidence bearing in mind today's opponents), Aldershot, Exeter and Charlton, he was experienced on the field but less so off it.

"I never imagined I'd get into management," confessed the likeable defender.

"I'd assumed that I'd just slip back into the building trade full time once my career finished but David Hawker gave me a call when I was at Exeter and the rest is history."

Jimmy had just enjoyed a 15 year career at just four clubs but left the Grecians after a disagreement with City boss Brian Godfrey before their epic FA Cup tie with Newcastle in 1981.

BY MARTIN McCONACHIE

The call from Yeovil's chairman came at just the right time and offered the 34-year-old his first chance in the gaffer's chair.

"I remember my first game well; it was a draw up at Gravesend & Northfleet. We were struggling in the league a little but we managed to stay up in the end despite the playing budget being cut quite heavily."

PREMATURE

The following season saw progress with the side ending up in 13th place, well above the drop zone, but no cup run. The final season of Jimmy's reign sadly ended in the sack after the inevitable drop in league position following heavy financial losses.

Following his premature departure from Huish, the Oxfordshire-born Giles returned to Devon and, as predicted, the building trade from where he had come.

Now, almost three decades on, he works as a bricklayer's agent where he matches up qualified, skilled brickies with major house builders assuring a smooth working relationship.

He clocked up 40 years of marriage last May to the lovely Pat, a union which has produced children Scott and Nicola. Work doesn't take up all of his time, thankfully, and he still plays in a team on Astroturf regularly at the age of, whisper it quietly, 64.

"I have to take it easy right now as I'm waiting for an operation on my cartilage," he laughs. "It's also interrupting my regular golf routine as well," says the man who can play off nine when he visits his local Honiton course.

His times at both Yeovil and Exeter City will always be intertwined and he has visited Huish Park regularly this season where he bumped into a dear friend, journalist John Lukins, an ally from all those years ago. "It was nice to sit near John at the recent Yeovil v Exeter match. He is a great man."

Jim was up at the fixture as a summariser for BBC Radio Devon, a role he has filled for around five years now bringing his forthright and often light-hearted views to the Devon airwaves.

The welcome he still gets now at Yeovil is a warm one, particularly from the folk who can remember his two year spell as player manager.

"The people at Yeovil were fantastic. I always get welcomed back when I return nowadays and I like coming back as I love to see good football. I think Terry is doing a good job with what he's got to spend."

Away Days Diary
Saturday, October 23
Brighton & Hove Albion - npower League 1

BRIGHTON and Hove Albion away isn't the most anticipated of my away days - but for some reason I woke up bright and early and really up for it.

Luckily for me Brighton is only an hour's drive from my house. My dad, 'LoughboroughGlover' as he is known, drove down to Aldershot so we could share the journey. Though I much preferred my section - an hour compared to his two and a half-hour drive!

My dad had brought with him an old CD he had found - it was a CD I had made about five years ago for away trips, when I lived at home with my parents and I went with my dad to every game.

The song brought back so many memories of long, old away trips, becoming known as 'nobrakesyftc' and happy memories of great days out.

I was starting to believe on the journey that today really was going to be a good day!

We managed to find a side road that had no parking restrictions and was only a short walk to the ground. "Great," I thought, "a nice short walk back rather than waiting for the buses with the masses!"

We went into their very impressive supporters club and had a quick pint out in the garden area. You can see the pitch from there, and it looked quite impressive. Much clearer than it looks from the away end!

We made our way around to the turnstiles and were told it would be another hour before we were allowed in - at just before half past one! We hung around and waited for the players to walk in while listening to LoughboroughGlover's bad jokes.

The players all seemed to be in the zone - headphones on and heads down. Eventually we were through the turnstiles and I had my customary £5 burger.

Even at that price it's worth it, double burger, cheese and they had mayonnaise. I don't know what it is about football stadia but they never seem to have mayonnaise!

We took our seats a little to the left of the goal trying to find the most unrestricted view.

Suddenly the heavens opened, and very thoughtfully, the Brighton stewards handed out plastic ponchos.

But the shower was short lived and it was clear blue skies and sunshine for the rest of the game.

The announcer at half time certainly gave us a few laughs too - I'm not sure what he actually said but it certainly sounded like: "if you really like cats, and you are old enough to set fire to them..."

The game itself - what I could see of it anyway - we competed comfortably with them for the first half, but we didn't really seem to turn up in the second.

It was disappointing but still a good day out and thankfully a short trip home!

Views from the media...

YEOVIL Town are back in FA Cup action next Saturday, but a competition which used to be the highlight of the Glovers' season is now approached with apprehension.

Of course it's well-chronicled that the club made its name as cup giant-killers and still holds the record for the number of league scalps claimed by a Non-League team.

But since Yeovil were promoted to League 1 in 2005, they have become the prey for the underdogs.

Astonishingly, the Glovers have won just one match in the competition over the last five years, a replay victory over Macclesfield in the first round in November 2005.

That year they lost to Walsall in the second round, but that defeat is irrelevant when more recent losses are considered.

THRASHED

In a run of four successive defeats in the first round, Town have lost to Non-League opponents three times and also been thrashed 5-0 by Stockport County.

Rushden and Diamonds started the rot in 2006 when they beat the Glovers 3-1 at Nene Park.

Which means Yeovil manager Terry Skiverton is right to approach next Saturday's rematch with the Northamptonshire side with caution.

For some reason Town have been unable to rise to the occasion in the FA Cup over the last five years and, given the club's history, it's difficult to know why.

There's no doubt Yeovil's supporters and the club's staff still attach huge significance to the competition and would dearly love to embark on another cup run.

But with the players embroiled in a relegation battle – or in 2006-07 a promotion battle – in League 1, the cup has failed to inspire them in recent seasons.

MICHAEL Rankine was Rushden's matchwinner when the Glovers lost at Nene Park four years ago. But Diamonds' other strikers that day have made more of an impact since. Lee Tomlin is now with Gary Johnson at Peterborough while late substitute Simeon Jackson has been a success in the Championship with Norwich City.

DISAPPOINTING: Arron Davies has his shirt tugged during Yeovil's defeat to Rushden & Diamonds in 2006

In all honesty, some of the performances have been dismal as you would expect looking through the results.

At Rushden four years ago, the Town defence was shorn of Skiverton through injury and Scott Guyett due to suspension and was torn apart by the Diamonds frontline.

Then 12 months later, the Glovers were humiliated on live television by Torquay United, with the Gulls winning 4-1. Couldn't get worse than that?

Think again.

In 2008, the 5-0 defeat at Stockport had Russell Slade considering his future and proved a real low point of his tenure.

Last season's 1-0 loss against

Oxford was tame in comparison, but still a blow to a club that needs funds from a cup run to compete with the bigger clubs in League 1.

It means that next week's tie against Yeovil's former Non-League rivals is hugely significant despite the obvious priority of maintaining the club's League 1 status this season.

Beating Rushden and then advancing beyond the second round opens up the possibility of a money-spinning tie against one of the country's biggest clubs in round three.

Anyone involved in Yeovil's game with Liverpool in 2004 knows just what a boost that could provide.

However, another first round defeat against Non-Leaguers next week will be a massive blow and could impact on the survival battle in League 1.

Once again, the FA Cup is set to play a huge part in the history of Yeovil Town.
