RUSSELL SLADE

FROM THE DUGOUT

GOOD AFTERNOON everyone and welcome back to The Matchroom Stadium for this afternoon's game against Swindon Town.

Let's give a warm welcome to our visitors, especially their manager Mark Cooper, who is doing a really good job at the County Ground and Swindon remain on course for a play-off slot.

Mark's squad has a good blend. There is a mixture of experience and that's laced with some talented young players and we anticipate another tough game this afternoon.

“YOU HAVE TO WIN THE BATTLE FIRST AND THEN YOU CAN START TO PLAY”

Looking back to Tuesday night's match here against Stevenage, we made just the sort of start required in terms of energy and commitment to get on top.

We showed a real intent from the off and were rewarded with Moses scoring the opening goal after just 14 minutes.

The one thing you must do against Stevenage is play with a mix of physicality. In other words you have to win the battle first and then you can start to play and that's exactly what we did in the opening period.

Worked hard

The team worked really hard pressing the ball and closing down and that's why the second goal was so pleasing as far as we were concerned.

We forced Stevenage to play in the wrong area and were able to capitalise when 'Dags' managed to get that first home goal under his belt.

In the second half it was all about being resilient as Stevenage sides will never lie down and we were able to come through that test as well.

The clean sheet was the icing on the cake and a fine save by Eldin right at the death ensured that we did not concede.

Another positive was that although we picked up a few bumps and bruises during the course of the game there was nothing too serious on the injury front.

Contention

Elliot is also back in contention after missing the last three games with a calf injury and that's important as we are inside the final third of the season now.

It's important that we push on now and get as many points on the board as we possibly can.

Finally, thanks to you for the support you gave the team on Tuesday night. Our fans were positive from the start and it always helps when you get that first goal.

It was good to see the supporters right behind the team and I'm sure you will do the same again this afternoon, as it really does make a difference.

Enjoy the game.

Swindon arrive here this afternoon looking to close in on a play-off place and are currently just four points adrift of a top six slot.

Promotion is all the Robins have left to concentrate on now after they suffered a heart-breaking Johnstone's Paint Trophy defeat against Peterborough on Monday night.

With a trip to Wembley the prize for success, Swindon lost the Southern Area Final 4-3 on spot-kicks following a 1-1 draw at the County Ground.

The first leg at London Road had finished all square at 2-2 and the tie remained deadlocked when Britt Assombalonga's header cancelled out Alex Pritchard's first-half strike on Monday night.

The Robins enjoyed the majority of first-half possession and had an early penalty shout when Dany N'Guessan went down in the box after Craig Alcock's challenge, but referee Keith Stroud waved away their appeals.

FACT: In 2006, Swindon was relegated to League Two meaning they became the first-ever former Premier League team to be relegated to the lowest division of the Football League.

Doubled

But midfielder Pritchard, on loan from Spurs and who had spent a spell at Peterborough last season, broke the deadlock when he smashed home from close range after Posh failed to clear their lines.

The Robins almost doubled their

HISTORICAL TIMELINE

1879: The club was founded by Reverend William Pitt

1894: Swindon Town turned professional and joined the Southern League

1910: The club reached the FA Cup semi-finals for the first time, but lost to Newcastle

1911: Swindon won the Southern League title

1930: Suffered their biggest-ever defeat, beaten 10-1 by Manchester City

1969: The club beat Arsenal 3-1 in the final of the League Cup and caused a huge shock lead straight after the break when N'Guessan beat goalkeeper Bobby Olejnik to the ball, but saw his shot hit the foot of a post, but as the hosts began to tire Assombalonga headed home a leveller.

With no extra-time, the game went straight to penalties and it was agony for Swindon duo Massimo Luongo and Tijane Reis as they both missed their efforts before Tommy Rowe scored calmly to send Posh to Wembley.

Now manager Mark Cooper has to try and lift his side for the final run-in and that's something Orient know all about as they were beaten 3-2 on aggregate by Southend at an identical stage of the Johnstone's Paint Trophy competition last season.

After the game Swindon manager Mark Cooper told the club's website that he thought his deserved better: "I thought we did enough to win the game. We missed the chance to go 2-0 up and kill the game," he said.

"We made one mistake which led to a goal. It was a mistake from a young player; he'll learn from that. I'm proud of the players. They gave everything, but it wasn't to be.

"We felt we had the better of the chances, but you give Assombalonga one chance and he's going score.

Wrong side

"We suspected it would be a tight game, but we've come out on wrong side. We need to use that as a spur. There are a lot of disappointed young

Orient will be looking to complete a double over The Robins, as when they two sides met at the County Ground back in November goals from David Mooney and Moses Odubajo sealed a 3-1 win in a fiery contest which saw the O's return to the top of League One.

Nicky Ajose gave the home side the lead in the first half, only for the O's to immediately respond through Mooney before an Odubajo double either side of half-time completed a superb turnaround.

GOALKEEPERS

No 1 – Wes Foderingham: The shot-stopper came through the ranks with Fulham's Academy before moving to Crystal Palace. Initially joined Swindon on loan in 2011 and joined on a permanent deal in January 2012 before signing a new contract last summer.

DEFENDERS

No 2 – Nathan Thompson: A product of Swindon's youth academy, last season was his best campaign and was a regular as Swindon made the League One play-offs. He was one of the standout performers, but missed the final stages of the campaign through injury.

No 3 – Nathan Byrne: The defender penned a two-year deal with Swindon last summer following a successful loan spell the previous campaign. While he was a trainee at Tottenham he also enjoyed loans with Brentford, Bournemouth and Crawley.

No 5 – Grant Hall: Signed on a season-long loan from Tottenham last summer and he has been virtually ever-present this season. Hall started at Lewes as a teenager before signing for Brighton in December 2011 and joined Spurs eight months later.

No 14 – Jay McEveley: A former Blackburn Rovers trainee, McEveley joined Derby in 2007 after loan spells with Burnley, Gillingham and Ipswich. He joined Barnsley in 2010 and after an impressive loan spell at Swindon he signed permanently in 2012.

Report: Orient battled to secure a hard-earned point against Swindon in difficult conditions and came close to snatching victory at the death.

On a wet and windy evening the O's started with the wind blowing firmly in their faces and the first half was not one to live long in the memory as both sides struggled to adapt to the conditions on a boggy pitch and neither goalkeeper was forced to break sweat.

As the game wore on the visiting manager Paolo Di Canio became more animated in the dugout, especially when Darren Ward missed a great chance to win the game, but headed wide following a corner.

But it was Orient that came desperately close to snatching all three points at the death. A deep cross from Dean Cox was headed back across goal by Moses into the path of substitute Jimmy Smith, but his drilled effort was saved brilliantly from visiting goalkeeper Wes Foderingham.

FROM THE BOARDROOM

Good afternoon everyone and welcome back to the Matchroom Stadium for what hopefully will be another three points this afternoon in our race for promotion.

It was pleasing to get back to winning ways on Tuesday night with a convincing performance over Stevenage, a side who are fighting for their lives.

As I tweeted recently: "You lose battles but you win wars," and hopefully our dip in form is behind us and we are back in a good position to finish this memorable season strongly.

"AT THE TIME OF WRITING WE ARE 17 POINTS CLEAR OF SEVENTH PLACE. BARRING A CATASTROPHE, WE SHOULD FINISH IN THE TOP SIX MEANING A PLAY-OFF PLACE IS ALMOST IN THE BAG."

It seems like everyone has written us off of late but we must stay optimistic as we are in a terrific place. We've still got 14 games to go which means there are still 42 points to play for and I've got a feeling there are many more twists and turns to go at the top of League 1 this year.

At the time of writing we are 17 points clear of seventh place. Barring a catastrophe, we should finish in the top six meaning a play-off place is almost in the bag.

Celebration

It is well documented that I've promised the players a celebration in Las Vegas if we achieve that and I've started making tentative plans for that trip with the MGM Grand looking our most likely destination.

HOWEVER, I want full focus from the lads and my question to them is: are we good enough to go one further?

I believe in this group of players and it's no coincidence that we've been a top two side for the vast majority of the season so if we give it our all over the next couple of months, then we can achieve automatic promotion.

It will require summoning every bit of strength we have as there are still some mighty challenges in our path, none more so than the home games against Brentford and Wolves where you as fans can play your part by creating a huge amount of noise to support the team.

Right Decision

I know that some of you are unhappy with the decision to give Brentford fans the East Stand for the game next month, but I still believe that to be the right decision in the best interests of the club and for maximising our income - 60 per cent of which can be spent on the playing budget.

At the time of writing we also still have more than 1,500 tickets available for the game meaning if you move quickly you won't be disappointed and can be there for what could be one of the biggest games in recent memory.

Keep your fantastic support and remember: in Russ we trust!

THE ACTION

14 - Orient come flying out of the blocks and soon grab the lead. Chris Dagnall is given time and space to get a shot away that Chris Day parries straight to Moses Odubajo who makes no mistake with the finish.

23 - The Stevenage defence goes into meltdown under pressure from the O's forward line and when Dagnall robs the ball off a panic-stricken Luke Jones, he slips it to David Mooney who returns the favour by squaring for Dagnall to tap home.

42 - Former O's man Jimmy Smith brings the best out of Eldin Jakupovic with a fierce left-footed volley that the big Bosnian claws away.

59 - Orient almost make it three with a move of top quality. Lloyd James finds Dean Cox on the left with a blind volley and the winger puts a clever ball in for Dagnall but the striker's volley rolls agonisingly wide.

90 - Jakupovic ensures that the O's keep a clean sheet with a stunning save to deny Michael Doughty in the dying seconds of the match.

COMMERCIAL SENSE

Good afternoon and welcome to today's Sky Bet League 1 clash with Swindon Town.

I wanted to talk about something different during today's notes which highlights just how much we like to build relationships with our supporters. Jonny our Media & Communications Manager mentioned to me last week that we had a supporter named Barri Twinn travelling from far afield to the game with his son Kyle.

Being a former season ticket holder from Leyton who can now only attend a couple of matches per season we decided to make his visit at the Stevenage match a little more memorable. Ada the kit man managed to

"...this perfectly highlighted how close the bond is between everyone at the club from the backroom staff and management to the players, some of which who have only been here a couple of weeks!"

source a Leyton Orient match ball for which Barri kindly donated £20 to the Prostate Cancer UK cause in which Neil Taylor, the CEO of the Community Sports Programme is taking part in later this year.

Special Treat

We took Barri and Kyle on a tour of the stadium which included the Board Room, Chairman's Club, Olympic Suite and of course the changing rooms prior to kick off where we had a match ball and a Stevenage programme signed by all of the lads. To top it all off, Kyle had mentioned that Eldin Jakupovic was his favourite player so it was a great gesture from the Bosnian to personally sign the front of his programme and pose for a picture (below).

After enjoying their evening so much, Barri has since booked some hospitality in the Olympic Suite to celebrate his birthday with us for the Wolves match in April.

For me, this perfectly highlighted how close the bond is between everyone at the club from the backroom staff and management to the players, some of which who have only been here a couple of weeks! This wasn't seen as a chore for anyone involved and it made a special day turn into a very memorable one!

Unforgettable Day

Please do not hesitate to contact us if there is anything extra that we can do to make your day that little bit more unforgettable. From a birthday announcement at half time to some hospitality with a pre match tour, there are a variety of ways that we can help and are only too willing. Contact the commercial team on 0871 310 1886 or emailcommercial@leytonorient.net for more information.

Enjoy today's match and up the O's

SUPPORT THE BIKE RIDE!

The Prostate Cancer UK charity bike ride from London to Amsterdam is kicking off at The Matchroom Stadium and Neil Taylor, CEO of the Leyton Orient Community Sports Programme, will lead the four man team that will represent the club to complete the 150-mile challenge.

There will be around 100 Club officials, volunteers and loyal supporters gathered from across the country joining forces to cycle from Orient on June 6th. They will cycle to Harwich for an overnight ferry and then into the centre of Amsterdam. It is aimed to be an enjoyable challenge for an important cause as each member taking part is asked to raise £1000 for Prostate Cancer UK.

Neil explained that Orient are thrilled to be hosting the depart, he said, "The idea for the bike ride came about through discussions with the Football League and Prostate Cancer UK. They saw it as a great way of engaging people from the football clubs and fans in something that is fun but also something that is meaningful and worthwhile."

Supporters representing all 72 clubs from the Sky Bet Football League will gather at Orient to begin their journey. He added, "We are completely honoured to be hosting the grand depart on the 6th June and we felt an obligation that we should contribute more than other clubs. Four of us from the charity team are taking the plunge into cycling further than we've ever cycled before."

One in eight men will be affected by Prostate Cancer in the UK and Taylor wants to people to join the force for good. "We want to get the players involved, the fans involved, we want as you can.

"We have all got our own stories for why we want to do this within the team, but we are all committed to doing it and we really want you to get behind us and really fund and give as much as you can and also spread the word about prostate cancer, get men checked out, there is a certain age group of men that may have it for years and do not realise until its too late, so it is absolutely fundamental that we raise awareness and we raise funding for this worthwhile charity."

"We want to get the players involved, the fans involved, we want everyone involved, to raise awareness for Prostate cancer and the terrible effects that it can have on lives and families..."

everyone involved, firstly to raise awareness for Prostate cancer and the terrible effects that it can have on lives and families, but also the positive things that Prostate Cancer UK does including the support and help that they give. Anyone that can should represent their club with pride.

"Please help us as much as you can, you can donate online via our just giving page, www.justgiving.com/LeytonOrientCycle2014 As a team, we need to raise £4000 between now and June. You can also text or follow us on Facebook and twitter.

The club will be following our story so please follow too and give as generously

The LOCSP have already started their training and one of the representatives Phil Rudling, spoke about the importance of training properly and how hard it is going to be, "We have appointed Tony Murphy on our team who is an experienced coach, he is leading our training schedule. We need to build up our stamina and our overall fitness and Tony is going to work us hard as well as himself. We have just had our first two training sessions and we are going to have to work very hard."

MESSAGES

• Happy 12th Birthday to Joseph Hamer, love form Mum, Dad and Elliana.

OBITUARY

The club was saddened to hear of the passing of Edwin Batts on February 1.

Edwin was a lifelong O's fan and even took his wife June to the O's for their first date back in 1949. Our deepest condolences go out to all of Edwin's friends and family. RIP.

DEARDO'S DIARY

GOOD AFTERNOON EVERYONE AND WELCOME BACK TO THE LATEST DEARDO'S DIARY. IT HAS BEEN A WHILE SINCE MY LAST ENTRY AND IT HAS CERTAINLY BEEN AN EVENTFUL TIME IN THE GOALKEEPING DEPARTMENT.

It hasn't been easy and we haven't had a lot of luck but thankfully we have managed to re-sign Eldin Jakupovic from Hull City which is a massive boost for us as you've already seen he is a massive asset for us and is enjoying his time here.

Aside from being the goalkeeping coach, I'm also the chief scout at the club (as you may have seen from my recent cameo appearance on Sky Sports News) and I thought you might want to hear a bit about what that role entails...

Although my job title is Chief Scout, I think my job is more about actually co-ordinating things. For our upcoming opponents, we make sure we have a minimum of two detailed match reports. We have one scout in the north, another in the south and a third who fills in watching games when needed and helps out a lot on the recruitment side.

I will speak to Lindsey our Secretary and organise which scouts to go to which games and then the reports will come back to me to sort and distribute to the Gaffer and Nuge whilst Matt Hunter our analyst will arrange DVDs of our opponents so we can watch them alongside the reports.

Recruitment

The other side of the work is on player recruitment. Myself, the gaffer and Nuge are always watching between one and three games a week. We watch a lot of the U21 leagues as well as games throughout the Football League and in the Non-Leagues.

We keep a list of targets in all positions that is updated monthly by Matt which means if anything happens we are ready to pounce. The list is made up of players we've seen and sometimes they are recommended by agents too. Unfortunately for me the goalkeeper list has had to be a lot longer the others over the last couple of seasons!

One of the Gaffer's real strengths is his man management and once we have identified the players, he will do a lot of work looking into their backgrounds and personalities so that anyone that does come in is a good fit for the group.

When you're on the road watching games it can be a lonely existence. Luckily I'm divorced so I don't have a missus nagging that I'm not around...though I'm not sure if that is a good thing or not.

Rewarding

It isn't very glamorous sometimes when you're up and down the motorways and I've lost count of the number of service stations I've enjoyed a good Ginsters slice at. There's a lot of sorting the wheat from the chaff and dealing with agents who think their players are the best but it can all be worth it and rewarding when you do discover someone who signs for us in the end.

You see the same old faces at same old grounds and some of the scouts you are in competition with and others not. People like Pat Holland who used to manage Orient and now scouts for Arsenal and Steve Shorey at Reading are two that are always very helpful for us. It can be good to share views and opinions plus it's nice to have a bit of good company.

Despite that isolation, scouting really is a team effort, from myself co-ordinating the scouts to Matt producing the DVDs and the Gaffer researching the players' personalities, it works well because of all the staff.

I always get asked by fans who we are after and I'm willing to let you in on one secret. There's a young goalkeeper we've got our eye on who is actually at the game today. I've included a photo of him so if you see him about please make him feel welcome as he is someone we have very high hopes for.

Enjoy the game and up the O's!!

WHO SIGNS FOR US IN THE END.

The Orient striker talks to the matchday magazine...

CHRIS DAGNALL

Words: Jonny Davies - Photos: Simon O'Connor

On a personal level, it's a case of so far, so good for Orient striker Chris Dagnall. The new man netted his third goal in five starts for the O's on Tuesday night against Stevenage and a month after making the move south to join the club, he continues to settle in well to his new surroundings.

"I'm pleased with the stats so far in terms of three goals so far in five starts and to be honest I probably could have had a couple more too the other night as I had a couple of chances but I'm pleased overall and just delighted to be getting a run of games which I've missed," reveals Dagnall.

"It's nice to come in to a club and get those first goals for a new club under your belt as soon as possible which takes a bit of pressure off as it can play on your mind so it has been good to get that out of the way."

"I EXPECTED TO MAYBE COME ON FOR THE LAST 15 OR 20 MINUTES BUT TO COME ON AT HALF TIME AND SCORE TWO WAS AN UNBELIEVABLE DEBUT."

It was at Gresty Road against Crewe last month that Dagnall introduced himself to the O's faithful in spectacular fashion as he came off the bench to bag two goals and turn a 1-0 deficit into a 2-1 lead for →

Russell Slade's side who held on for all three points.

"The debut was pretty special, I expected to maybe come on for the last 15 or 20 minutes but to come on at half time and score two was an unbelievable debut. The gaffer said to me just go on and score and fortunately I did! When any club signs a striker, the first thing the fans expect is goals and the quicker you get them then the quicker you get the fans on your side and they've been great to me so far."

Having previously plied his trade at Tranmere Rovers, Rochdale, Scunthorpe, Barnsley and Coventry, Dagnall admits that a move south to the O's was somewhat of a step into the unknown, though former O's skipper Stephen Dawson – a teammate at Barnsley – played a key role in his decision to move to E10.

Honest

"I'll be honest I didn't know too much about Orient before I signed here. I'd only heard good things though and Stephen Dawson had nothing but good things to say about the club and I think it was the most enjoyable time of his career when he was down here, he loved it.

"I thought it was nice to meet the manager first who travelled up to have a talk with me on his day off and we had a good talk. It assured me that he wanted me to sign which just made it feel more like the right move. Once I met him I thought he was a top man and I signed a couple of days later.

"He's a good manager and looks after the lads well. If someone needs a rest he will let them have it and when someone needs a good blast he will do that as well, I'm only looking forward to finding out more about him.

"Moving down South was a big thing for me. I'd not long bought a house in Manchester with my missus so it was a massive decision to make to move down and be on my own for a bit but I've lapped it up and enjoyed it all so much. I've got an apartment in Canary Wharf, I've had my family and girlfriend down to stay.

"I've been strolling about like a little tourist, finding places here and there. There's plenty to do in London which is a positive so when I've got nothing to do I'll go for a little stroll and I've got a mate down here in central London doing some labouring so will go and meet him now and again. It's been a good month."

Next Level

Dagnall has played and scored throughout the Football League and believes that should the O's manage the jump to the next level, they would not be out of place in England's second tier.

"This team is definitely good enough to go up. In the games that I've played you can see the lads when they knock it about are a match for anyone especially in the Championship. If we do go up I think the lads will see that you get even more time to play in the league above which I think would suit us on better pitches, at better grounds, against better teams so I think they'd enjoy it. In this league I think there's a lot more games with the cups and more teams just wanting to grind a result in any which way rather than playing the right way."

The 27-year-old bagged 10 goals in 42 appearances at Championship level last season and believes he has unfinished business in the league above.

"I want to get back to the Championship, I've played quite a few games at that level and that's where I enjoy it most and one of things that appealed to me about Orient most was that it offered me a great chance to get back there straightaway. The aim is to finish in that top two, there's some big games coming up and we can make up the ground we've lost in the last couple of weeks."

Dagnall remains completely focussed on automatic promotion, and having suffered play-off heartbreak twice previously in his career, is determined to drive the O's forward to a top two finish.

Memories

"I've been there [the play-offs] twice and lost in the semi-finals and final before and it isn't nice. That said, I'm sure if you go up that way it can give you some of the best memories of your career. It's not the route that I want to take and that heartache is a motivating factor for me. No-one wants to extend the season by another month for it to come to nothing. If we do have to do it that way then I want to make sure we don't fail so I can bury the hatchet with the play-offs."

Aside from his goals, it has been the striker's industry and work rate that has stood out to spectators in his O's career so far. A fine demonstration came on Tuesday against Stevenage when he and his strike partner David Mooney worked tirelessly to press the Boro backline, forcing a mistake that led to Dagnall grabbing his first goal on home soil.

"I do work hard and pride myself on that, but that should be the same for any player. When you step over the white line that should be the least you do. The minimum you can give is everything you've got in your legs and I aim to do that. Obviously scoring goals is a nice bonus but you need to make sure the absolute minimum is 100 per cent work rate."

IN PROFILE: DAGNALL

HAT-TRICKS: Dagnall has bagged four hat-tricks in his career to date

SCOUZER: 'Dags' was born in Liverpool and began his career at Tranmere Rovers

MILESTONE: He is four goals away from 100 career strikes

"I WANT TO GET BACK TO THE CHAMPIONSHIP, I'VE PLAYED QUITE A FEW GAMES AT THAT LEVEL AND THAT'S WHERE I ENJOY IT MOST AND ONE OF THINGS THAT APPEALED TO ME ABOUT ORIENT MOST WAS THAT IT OFFERED ME A GREAT CHANCE TO GET BACK THERE STRAIGHTAWAY."

TAKING A LOOK BACK...

THE GREATEST GAME...

In this feature, the history of football during the O's Football League years comes under scrutiny. This time around, we look at highlights of the 1952-53 season.

Attendances averaged 10,562 with the visit from Millwall providing the highest figure of the season at Brisbane Road when 19,550 saw the Lions win 4-1.

Former Walton & Hersham centre-forward Dennis Pacey, bagged 19 goals in 37 League appearances for the O's for whom Stan Charlton was an ever-present. Skipper Stan Aldous missed only one match as manager Alec Stock began to assemble a side that steadily progressed each year and would clinch promotion within four years.

The season saw the debut of former Walthamstow Avenue player Ken Facey who, like Charlton and Aldous, was to become a mainstay of the side in the ensuing years.

The highest win of the season came against Colchester United on January 5th when the O's blitzed the Essex side by 7-0. All the more incredible for the fact the Orient had suffered a 1-6 defeat at Exeter City just 7 days earlier.

ELSEWHERE IN THE WORLD OF FOOTBALL

The FA Cup Final proved a thriller and was to become known as the 'Matthews' Final. In the all-Lancashire clash, Bolton Wanderers scored after 2 minutes and with only 23 minutes remaining they enjoyed a 3-1 lead against Blackpool but it was Matthews that was to grab the headlines.

The Seaside revival began when winger Matthews crossed for Stan Mortensen to reduce the deficit and there were only three minutes left when Mortensen completed his hat-trick with a powerful free-kick taken just outside the penalty box. From the restart, Blackpool win the ball back, played it out to Matthews who set off on a jinking run leaving three Bolton defenders in his wake before delivering a precision pass to Bill Perry to score the winner from 10 yards.

Sheffield Wednesday centre-forward Derek Dooley, was being widely touted for an England call-up when he tragically broke his leg in February. The 23 year-old, who boasted a career record of 64 goals in 63 matches, was playing against Preston North End in February when he challenged the opposition keeper for a 50-50 ball. Dooley had already sustained a cut to his leg and he was about to leave hospital when the cut became infected and gangrene set in leaving doctors with no option but to amputate most of his limb.

When Preston beat Arsenal and then Derby, they led the table by two points with all their matches completed. Arsenal had to beat Burnley in their final match and then goal average would decide the destination of the First Division title. The Gunners 3-2 win in their final match saw them take the title on goal average. Both they and Preston had 21 wins and 12 draws but the title went to Arsenal by a tenth of a goal - their goal average was 1.51 compared to Preston's 1.41.

Aston Villa full-back Peter Aldis scored from 35 yards, believed to be the longest-ever headed goal.

Jimmy Glazzard scored five goals as Huddersfield beat Everton 8-2 in the Second Division. All his goals were headers and all came from Vic Metcalfe crosses.

FIRST TIME FOR EVERYTHING.

IN THIS SERIES OF ARTICLES, a wide range of topics in the Club's history and all occurring for the FIRST TIME are featured.

Orient has moved twice during their Football League career, the first time when the club decamped half a mile away from their home in Millfields Road to Lea Bridge Stadium.

Forced out of their Clapton home by the syndicate that purchased the ground from the local council in 1927 to stage greyhound racing, relations between the greyhound and football fraternities became strained with the O's being banned from using the ground for training and the boardroom on match days. A new ground was sought and found half a mile away at the home of the Lea Bridge Speedway team who had been racing for a couple of years. The capacity was just over 20,000 with room for 4,000 under cover and a main stand extending 50 yards on the north side of the ground. There were shallow embankments around the remainder of the oval shaped arena with wooden perimeter fencing but in contrast to Millfields, it was a barren site and in need of much repair.

The first time that the stadium opened its doors to football came ahead of the 1930/31 season when Clapton Orient played two pre-season practice matches with encouraging attendances. A crowd of 6,381 turned up for the Saturday game and 4,772 for the midweek game and, on Thursday September 3, 1930 when the club staged a League game for the first time, a crowd of 5,505 watched them beat Newport County 3-1.

Within a few weeks of the O's taking up residence, the Football League ordered the Club to make some alterations after Torquay United had complained about the close proximity of the speedway's wooden safety fence to the football pitch. Whilst the remedial work was being carried out, two league matches were staged at Wembley and an FA Cup replay at Highbury.

Lea Bridge was the setting for the Club's record League win, 9-2 v Aldershot on February 10, 1934 watched by 9,832 and the heaviest defeat there was 5-1 v Brentford on February 25, 1933.

The highest attendance was 20,400 on March 13, 1937 when Millwall were beaten 1-0. The visitors were enjoying a successful FA Cup run that saw them eventually reach the semi-final - and a considerable number of fans rushed the entrances and broke down a couple of gates to gain free entry.

The final league game at Lea Bridge Road was on April 29, 1937 when Clapton Orient marked the end of an era with a 3-0 success against Southend United watched by only 2,541. The lowest attendance recorded was the 1,747 that saw the 2-2 draw versus Reading on December 19, 1931.

In total, the O's played 145 League matches at Lea Bridge which lay below the level of Lea Bridge Road and was close to the Greyhound pub. After the football club vacated the ground, it continued to be used by the speedway team into the post-war era until it was closed and re-developed as an industrial estate.

The Orient directors were never truly convinced that the stadium was the ideal home for the Football Club and when the opportunity came to take over from Leyton Amateurs and move to Brisbane Road, the move was readily agreed.

TWENTY FIVE YEARS AGO

It was 25 years ago that manager Frank Clark plotted Leyton Orient's 1988-89 promotion from the Fourth Division via a play-off final triumph. In this regular feature, we continue to follow the path to that achievement looking at the news that involved the Club both on and off the pitch during the successful season.

March 14

Away v Hereford 1-1

The home side were managed by former O's favourite and winger Ian Bowyer who had spent two seasons with the club in the early seventies having joined Orient from Manchester City.

He scored 18 goals in 78 League matches before being transferred to Nottingham Forest.

Now in charge at Edgar Street, he was hoping for a repeat outcome when his side won at Orient earlier in the campaign that completed only the Bulls second win against the O's in nine attempts.

In the event, winger Alan Comfort goal struck his 14th goal of the season to earn a point for the visitors watched by a crowd of 2,083 but Clark felt that his side might have gone onto to record what would have been only their fourth away league win of the term.

"I felt that we did enough to win the game but were thwarted by some excellent goalkeeping, especially in the last twenty minutes," he said.

"Although on paper, a draw looks a reasonable result, especially in view of Hereford's excellent recent home form, we were very disappointed not to come away with three points."

March 4

Home v Hartlepool 4-3

The game against Hartlepool was the kind to bring back the crowds and give managers grey hairs," Clark stated.

"We certainly deserved to win but were unable to get into a position to control the match and consequently, were hard-pushed right until the final whistle. After the game, the Hartlepool players were full of praise for the pitch and it seems that when there is moisture on top, it is a pleasure to play on."

It proved to be an exciting match for the Tuesday night crowd numbering 3,408 with the home side just edging the contest after the teams had been locked at 1-1 at the interval. Starting the match in 8th position, just one place and one point outside a play-off place, goals from Terry Howard, Kevin Campbell, Keith Day and John Sitton saw us record a nail-biting and hard-fought victory against the north-east side whose commitment belied their placing four places off the foot of the Division Four table although 13 points clear of bottom-placed club Colchester United.

Terry Howard scores

With a busy schedule ahead of his team, manager Clark signed left-sided midfielder Wayne Kerrins on loan from Fulham with the possibility of extending the loan unto the end of the season.

The youth team had slipped to a mid-table position in the South East Counties League Division One following a 2-1 home defeat by Norwich City that left them without a win in five matches.

The Orient Supporters' Club had arranged a 'Bank Holiday Special' trip for Easter Monday. Coaches were to depart from Brisbane Road at 8.30 am to head north, initially to Maine Road to watch the Manchester City v Stoke City match in the afternoon before journeying onto to Prenton Park to attend the Tranmere Rovers v Orient fixture in the evening (kick-off 7.30 pm) Return fare for adults was set at £15 and £12 for juniors and OAP's. An optional £6 Centre Stand seat for the Manchester City was also available.

The victory extended Orient's unbeaten run to six matches and the transformation from the inconsistent form before February came as no surprise to midfielder Terry Howard.

"We had Alan Comfort hitting form, Kevin Campbell coming to the club, Mark Cooper finding his feet, Stevie Castle returning into the side and the defence was looking rock solid," he recalled in his autobiography - Oooh!

"Keith Day and Johnny 'Sitts' were looking very good at the back," he continued. "So when you examine all the facts, it's no surprise we ended up winning promotion. Indeed, if you look back at that side, we could have held our own in the division above. It was a good team for a bottom division club, there's no doubt about that.

"We never thought we could win automatic promotion because that was beyond us but we knew we had a chance of sneaking in the back door and making the play-offs."

O's team boss Clark, who was also Managing Director, took the opportunity through his column in the matchday magazine to issue a hard-hitting reflection on a recent television programme.

"No doubt many of you saw the TV programme 'Out of Order' recently which featured a referee wired for sound at the Millwall v Arsenal game," he wrote. "Two questions immediately spring to mind. What was the programme about and who gave permission for it to be made? It seemed to me that it started out as a reasonable attempt to investigate the problems at amateur level where referees are frequently physically assaulted and are consequently leaving the game in large numbers. However, when the television people realised what they had got, it turned into a trivial and sensationalised attempt to knock the professional game.

"Going on their past record, of course, then we shouldn't be too surprised at that, which begs the question, 'What were the Football League thinking about?' Did they really think that TV would pass up an opportunity like that? They have tried for years to get cameras and microphones closer to the action for the sake of "realism" and "good television" and here they were presented with a golden opportunity to be right in the middle of the cauldron.

"I felt that the only person to emerge from the episode with any credit was the referee who handled himself very well in an impossible situation.

"Many people are now expressing great concern about who is really running the game. The television Companies have put a lot of money into football, of course, and are entitled to seek maximum co-operation in return, but there must be a line drawn somewhere, and it is the Football authorities who must wield the chalk. We must strike the right balance between the "search for the truth" and respect for the integrity and traditions of football."

DD BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Following the recent presentation of champagne by LOSC to Malcolm Graham to mark his 80th birthday the club was pleased to repeat the honours again last week in celebration of the landmark birthday of another of the stars of Orient's 1961/62 promotion team, Dave Dunmore, our powerful centre forward of that successful era who was 80 on Tuesday February 18.

Making the presentation once again on the club's behalf was Alan Chandler, one of our stalwart LOSC members and long time O's fan now resident in the West Midlands. A long and interesting article by Alan of his visit to big Dave, now looking slightly less familiar with his new beard, may be found on the O's website and on the LOSC blog. Alan mentions how Dave, still living in York, was delighted to think that the O's still thought about him after so many years and how he always follows the O's results and news with interest.

Dunmore had the unenviable task of taking over the number 9 shirt worn so successfully by Orient legend Tommy Johnston but quickly established himself as a hugely popular player at the club with his stylish play - not forgetting, of course, the 22 goals he scored in the promotion campaign that took O's to the top flight of English football.

We are hoping that Dave will come down to the O's as a guest of the club later in the season to tie in with the 80th birthday of another of that famous O's team, Sid Bishop.

Our thanks to Alan Chandler for making the long trips to Barnsley and York to present the gifts to Malcolm and Dave.

and temperature controls that need to be in place for the ale to be in best serving condition. With sixty or so casks of ale having to be dealt with aside from our lager stocks it has presented huge challenges for Tony Roome who is now organising our LOSC ale operation. Additionally, with two bars to operate it requires extra committee members to staff the event and with the match on Tuesday evening plus the two long festival sessions on Thursday and Friday from 5.00pm to 11.00pm followed by what we expect to be a busy time at the club today it makes great demands on the committee, especially those who have day time jobs, family responsibilities and who live a long distance from the club.

Fortunately everything was nicely in place for the festival by the end of Tuesday's session and I should like to thank our committee and other helpers for their efforts and cooperation during what will have been a very busy and tiring week or so at the club. Even after we close today there will be all the tasks of clearing and cleaning the cellar, removing the additional bar and getting it stored away, getting the empty casks and kegs sorted for collection and then gearing up for yet another home match v Colchester United next Saturday.

It's all in a week's work at LOSC and we love the challenges it presents for us. All we need our members to do is to turn up in large numbers and help drink the place dry. Remember, the more you drink at LOSC the more you help us in helping the O's!

FROM THE YOUTH DEPT

GRAINGER FOR ENGLAND

Orient U18s goalkeeper Charlie Grainger last week was named in the England U18's squad to face Croatia on March 3rd and 5th.

Grainger is a familiar face to O's fans as he has been involved with the first team squad several times over the last couple of the seasons, whilst he also skippered the youth team to the third round of the FA Youth Cup this campaign before their cruel exit to Premier League Stoke City on penalties in the third round.

Following the announcement, Jonny Davies sat down with Charlie to get his reaction to the news...

JD: Charlie thanks for joining us, a good bit of news for you this week, getting the England call up how pleased were you?

CG: I was absolutely buzzing when I got the phone call from Andy Edwards (Academy Director). I have been to five international goalkeeping camps now but have been waiting to get the call up into the sides so I am absolutely over the moon that I've got the nod for the squads now.

JD: What have those goalkeeping camps been like, what goes on there?

CG: I have really enjoyed them. They group together several of the best goalkeepers at each age group and we stay at St. George's Park for a couple of days where we do a lot of goalkeeper-specific training. A lot of it is similar to the work we do with 'Deardo' (Kevin Dearden) but with more goalkeepers and it can be very competitive as we are all trying to impress.

JD: It must be exciting to be around anything to do with England?

CG: Yeah it is, when you get to put the training kit on it is a really special feeling. The facilities are first class too and sometimes when we are at St. George's Park we get to see the senior England squad around which is obviously exciting. I love it.

JD: You must be really looking forward to those games next month now, I bet you can't wait for it?

CG: I can't wait now, I'm counting down the days. I have been going to international camps for two years now and now I will finally get to pull on that England shirt.

JD: Have the first team lads been congratulating you?

CG: Yeah all the players and staff have said well done which has been nice but I've started getting a lot of stick from some of the lads who are saying

I'm a 'big time' England player now but it's all good fun!

JD: How is it going here this season working every day with Kevin Dearden and the other goalkeepers?

CG: It has been really good here working all the time with Kev and learning so much. Having no games recently because of the weather has been a bit of a killer so I'm itching to get out there and play again.

JD: You have been out on loan at Cray this season, what did you take from that?

CG: I took loads from being there, it helped every part of my game. Playing with men and the pace of the game completely changes from playing for the youth team. I want to try and get out on loan again if I can as I think I can learn a lot more.

JD: How proud are you to be part of Orient and representing England, because it is a big thing for the club to be represented at international level?

CG: I am very proud because it is not very often that the smaller clubs get recognised at international level so I am very proud that I have been able to do that for the club and for myself. Maybe they will be looking around a little bit more and maybe some of the other players might get a look in at the England camps which I think would be great.

FROM THE PRESS BOX

by O's fan and journalist James Masters

Can I tell you a secret? While the rest of the world was busy celebrating Valentine's Day, I, like many of you I suspect, was busy thanking my lucky stars that I had an old flame back in my life.

Don't tell the missus, she's not supposed to know. You see, after pining for weeks and moping around like a lost little puppy, that tall handsome man with the flowing locks returned.

Oh Eldin. How we missed you.

The return of Eldin Jakupovic on loan from Hull brought a whole new meaning to the phrase 'Man Crush' and I'm not the only one under his spell if Twitter is anything to go by.

I've noticed that several fans, both male and female, have been extolling his Hollywood looks, while others have undertaken ridiculous tasks of cleaning an entire stand just to witness this man back in an Orient shirt.

Mutual Love

Not since Kevin Campbell fired Orient to promotion in 1988-89 has there been so much mutual love for a loan player but, yes, you guessed it, there's something about Eldin.

Last weekend, I awoke in Sheffield where I was supposed to report on the Wednesday v Charlton FA Cup match for The Times, to find that the game was postponed.

Frustrating but every grey cloud has a silver lining and instead I drove over to Preston to pay tribute to Sir Tom Finney and steal myself another 90 minutes with Eldin.

Following three consecutive defeats, it was clear that Orient would be suffering from a lack of confidence but something was different – there was something more reassuring in their performance.

That would be Eldin. You cannot underestimate how much of a difference it makes to a team when the defence can trust their goalkeeper.

Breathtaking

He has a presence about him which allows him to sweep behind the defence, dominate the penalty area and produce saves like he did in the final minute against Stevenage which are simply breathtaking.

To have someone of his quality and calibre in the team as we approach the business end of the season is a real coup for this club and he will no doubt play a huge role in our attempt to secure automatic promotion.

We may be third favourites for the top two spots but with three consecutive home games, Orient have a fantastic opportunity to heap the pressure back on Brentford and Wolves, who meet today.

A victory against a dangerous Swindon side today followed up by a win over Colchester in E10 next week would well and truly propel Orient back into contention.

For that to happen, Eldin will have to conjure a tale worthy of his film star looks. If he does that, then we'll be fine. If not, well, he had me at 'Hello'.

TREVOR DAVIES TAKES A LOOK AT WHAT'S HAPPENING IN SKY BET LEAGUE 1...

BRITT LEADS THE WAY

The race is hotting up to become the top League One marksman this season with Peterborough United's Britt Assombalonga just ahead of the chasing pack.

The 21-year-old striker, who joined Posh in the summer from Watford, scored the equaliser for Darren Ferguson's side at Brisbane Road two weeks ago and has 16 league goals to his name.

It's a decent return from the striker who has already scored more league goals this year than he did last season.

He was on a season-long loan at Southend and netted 15 times in 43 league games for the Shrimpers, but there are a host of hit-men breathing down his neck and ready to pounce if the Congolese footballer loses his scoring touch during the final third of the season.

Bristol City forward Sam Baldock is one of those and is in joint second place after netting in his last two games against Orient and Tranmere Rovers.

The 24-year-old former West Ham and MK Dons frontman is one of four players that have 15 goals to his credit.

Accompanied

He is accompanied by Wolves striker Leon Clarke, who has yet to score for his new club following a £750,000 move from Coventry City last month.

However, Clarke struck 15 times for the Sky Blues before his transfer, but has not scored in the league since he netted twice in a 4-2 win for City against Peterborough on Boxing Day.

POSH STAR TOMLIN JOINS MIDDLESBROUGH PERMANENTLY

Middlesbrough have signed Lee Tomlin from Peterborough United on a permanent basis, three weeks after he joined them on loan.

Boro have paid an undisclosed fee for the 25-year-old forward, who has agreed a three-and-a-half-year deal with the Championship side, ending a four-season spell at London Road.

Tomlin is yet to feature for the Boro because of a three-match suspension triggered by a sending off in his final Posh appearance.

However, he could make his Middlesbrough debut in Saturday's game against Leeds.

Veteran striker Ryan Lowe has also netted 15 goals this season for Tranmere, after the Liverpool-born forward joined in the summer from MK Dons and is averaging almost a goal every other game, having appeared in all 31 league matches for Rovers this season.

Completing the quartet of players on the 15-goal mark is Orient's David Mooney, but the Irishman has the best strike rate, as injury and suspension side-lined the 29-year old for a spell this season, and his goals have come from just 25 league outings.

Mooney, whose last league goal was against Peterborough two weeks ago, remains firmly on course to become the first O's player to scorer 20 league goals in a season since Peter Kitchen struck 21 times during the 1977-78 campaign.

Believe

It's hard to believe that it's almost 40 years since an Orient player has been able to match Kitchen's 21-goal haul – indeed during that time no-one has netted more than 18 league goals in a campaign.

Although veteran O's striker Kevin Lisbie could also hit that target, as he has 12 goals to his name and is one of three Orient players in the Top 20 list.

Moses Odubajo, who opened Orient's account on Tuesday night against Stevenage, is in 19th place and needs just one more strike to reach double figures, which would be an excellent return for the youngster.

DAMON GRAY

The young Orient fan has built up a following recently with his striking Orient artwork talks to E10...

FOOTBALL has always had a relationship with art and design. When you think about it; hundreds of kits being re-released every season, the typography that's associated to particular clubs and the merchandise that we, the supporters, collect to pledge our footballing allegiances.

The inspiration that came from design in football is the factor that inspired me to get started in the very first place. When looking back at this date in 2013, if I were to be asked whether or not I thought I'd ever be writing this piece in the programme, I would have thought 'no chance' but bitten your arm off for the opportunity.

It's amazing, yet scary, as to how so much can happen in a relatively short period of time. It all began at the start of this season, we were having a fantastic start and spirit was through the roof.

Having attended nearly all of the first ten games, I felt inspired to just have a go at putting some random ideas together on the computer.

Which, ended up being the starting point to the faces in the programme today.

Rough sketches of players in action turned into faces with torsos, then further to just faces with only neck included — with a bit of refinement here and there.

Overwhelming reception

The particular aspect of this journey that really took me by surprise was the overwhelming reception I received, when unveiling them on social media for the very first time. From the club, from friends and family and especially O's supporters from both on and off twitter.

The day that I released the collective group of the teams' faces onto →

“EXPERIENCING A DREAM TURN INTO REALITY IS QUITE POSSIBLY ONE OF THE MOST SURREAL, YET AMAZING FEELINGS YOU COULD POSSIBLY IMAGINE.”

“WHAT DOES THE FUTURE HOLD? WELL, IF IT’S ANYTHING LIKE THE PAST SIX MONTHS HAVE BEEN, THEN THERE’S NO GUARANTEE THAT I COULD EVEN POSSIBLY HAZARD A GUESS AT WHAT LIES AROUND THE CORNER.”

twitter, my phone went crazy.

The feedback I got, which was very positive, gave me the confidence to push on and do more. For which I have to say a big thank you, because experiencing a dream turn into reality is quite possibly one of the most surreal, yet amazing feelings you could possibly imagine.

It makes me firmly believe that you can achieve things, no matter how big or small, through social media if done correctly. It’s an incredible tool, and there’s no better current example I can think of than O’s fan Craig Delew and the #CleanForEldin experience.

I was there on the day when Craig showed up, and I have to say; top points for going along with everything, because it made a brilliant video.

To the future

What does the future hold? Well, if it’s anything like the past six months have been, then there’s no guarantee that I could even possibly hazard a guess at what lies around the corner.

I have some ideas down on paper, whether they’ll come to fruition remains to be seen. However, what I do know for certain is that I’ll be putting together the final banner for the back of the South Stand, after the success of them all so far.

I’m not sure who are responsible for the original three, but I think they’re excellent. Get your votes in via the poll at www.leytonorient.com, for which promotion season you would like celebrated in a banner for the stadium, 1961-62, 1988-89 or 2005-06?

There is something else though, something that I want to do and something that I’d love to involve you, the supporters, with. I’m currently well into my final major project in my third year at university, and the reason I bring it up is that I need your help.

I want to put together a photographic collection of O’s supporters that have decorated parts of their houses with club related memorabilia, whether it being kits, posters or autographs.

If you have, or know of somebody that has this or something similar I’d really like to hear back from you, the best way to contact me is through my twitter handle @dammydodger. I can guarantee it will be an exciting project.

But Beyond that, I have no idea what lies over the horizon. I just hope it’s good and involves plenty of Orient. •

This week Andrew Ward talks us through a day out in Nottingham...

How long have you followed the O's? Well I was born on 7th November 1992 and my Dad managed to watch Orient beat West Brom 2-0 in the old second division before getting back to the hospital to see me being born, so I guess it started from there really. I've been a season ticket holder for as long as I can remember. I have always been in the family stands before moving to the South Stand in the last few years.

Favourite away day... There has been a lot of top away games in recent years including our amazing away form this season. My favourite this season has to be the 3-1 away win at Peterborough, was a great game and we battered them for 90 minutes.

There have been the FA Cup games vs Arsenal at the Emirates, the Charlton and Fulham games were also brilliant.

It's always lovely to win at Southend especially in our second season in League 1 with a Sean Thornton free kick and a last min winner from Adam Boyd. But nothing compares to the Oxford promotion game, it was such an enthralling game and with the result coming in from Northampton and the last minute winner it has to be the best away day!

Previous trips to NOTTS COUNTY and memories of those I have been to Meadow Lane 3 times. The first time was the 1-1 in the 05-06 promotion season where we scored the magnificent team goal finished by Wayne Corden, last year we drew 1-1 with a Super Kev Penalty. But the best of the 3 trips was the 2-1 win in 2011-12 season where Stephen Dawson scored with an absolute cracker and then a last minute penalty save by Lee Butcher topped off a hard-earned win!

Local attraction you'd recommend...

There's plenty to see, such as the cricket ground, The River Trent, Forest's City ground. There are plenty of pubs including a wetherspoons outlet "The Trent Bridge Inn" which welcomed both home and away fans on our last trip.

Prediction... 2-1 to the mighty O's! Super Kev and a late winner by Battman!

LEYTON ORIENT COMMUNITY SPORTS PROGRAMME

LOFC IN THE COMMUNITY

THE PLAYERS have been our and about in the community a lot recently and Becca James has been following them on their trips to local schools...

Scott Cuthbert, Nathan Clarke and Theo the mascot visited Norlington School's sports day to give out medals to the pupils and Theo even won a gold!

The sports day was Norlington's version of the Olympics and was held at The Lee Valley Athletics Centre with events such as track races, relays, long jumps, triple jumps, high jumps and shot put. The O's pair took the role of handing out the bronze, silver and gold medals to the finalists in each sport.

The O's defenders stood to congratulate each pupil once they had received their medals and they also took a trip along the cheering crowd with Theo to shake hands and have some photographs taken with the students.

Moses Odubajo returned to Sedgehill Secondary School in Catford to motivate aspiring footballers and joined in with a 5-a side football tournament.

Odubajo attended Sedgehill School and began his footballing career whilst he was a student there. He met a group of Year 9 students that are all part of the school's football team and some of them are Academy standard players so they were excited to have a former student become a professional footballer. Odubajo encouraged the students to work hard at school alongside giving everything on the pitch.

Romain Vincelot and De'Reece Vanderhyde put pupils through their paces when they visited Buxton School in Leyton.

The O's pair gave the school football club a training session that focused on warming up and stretching. They gave the pupils advice for their training and football to help the youngsters improve. After the training session, Romain and De'Reece joined in with a football tournament and tested the student's football skills.

Elliot Omozusi and Moses Odubajo visited Portway Primary School in Newham recently to give the pupils some inspiration.

The aim of the school's partnership with Orient (LOPASS) is to help stimulate the pupils and to encourage the children to support their local club. The O's pair began by speaking about how their footballing careers began and then held a question and answer session with the year 5 students.

Omozusi and Odubajo finished off the afternoon with a showcase of their skills in front of the school and signed autographs for the pupils.

CUSTOMER SERVICE

Should you have any issues, concerns or queries please contact your nearest steward who will assist you. Every steward has a number on their jacket to assist with feedback. A team of dedicated customer service stewards are also now available to deal with any queries.

Stadium Manager

TEXTING SERVICE 07776 228 298

Foul, abusive and racist language will not be tolerated in this stadium. You do not have to put up with mindless behaviour or let it spoil your day. You can approach the nearest steward to report an incident, or text directly to the control room and let us deal with it from there. It is better for us to monitor the situation as it is happening rather than after the event.

PERSISTENT STANDING

Whilst the club appreciates there will be times when fans will stand up periodically through the match, this issue relates to fans who persistently stand during games. We ask that you consider the fans behind you, the elderly and the young and those who cannot stand for prolonged periods of time. The club is monitored on a regular basis by the Local Authority. This is an all seater stadium and persistent standing is not permitted.

NO SMOKING - FOR YOUR SAFETY

It is against the law to smoke at this venue. Spectators are requested not to smoke at any time and safety stewards are authorised to ask any person found smoking to leave the stadium. The use of electronic cigarettes is not allowed in the stadium.

GROUND REGULATIONS

Please be aware that these are posted around the stadium. Ground Regulations exist for the well being and safety of all supporters attending Brisbane Road on a match day.

EMERGENCY EVACUATION

In the event of an emergency within the stadium spectators should remain in their positions and listen carefully to the loud speaker announcements that will be made. The announcements may direct spectators to exit gates or emergency exits onto the pitch. In all cases the stewards will direct spectators to the relevant points. If spectators are requested to vacate they are asked to do so calmly and quickly to assist with safe evacuation.

Help Ellis' Daddy raise £100,000 to find a cure for Ellis

Richard Page is cycling 3,500 miles to all of Leicester City's Sky Bet Championship away games to raise money for his son, Ellis, who suffers from MECP2 Duplication Syndrome

The condition means that Ellis may never walk or talk, and suffers from chest infections and seizures, brought on by epilepsy.

Sky Bet, the title sponsor of the Football League, are backing Richard as he tries to raise £100,000 for the text "ellis" campaign.

With these funds, research can begin into finding a cure for Ellis, after an exciting breakthrough led to the reversal of MECP2 Duplication Syndrome in mice.

COMING SOON...

Following today's game against Swindon Town, Orient return here next Saturday when Colchester United are the visitors.

The Essex side are currently 15th in the table and when the O's travelled to the U's in August they triumphed 2-1. David Mooney scored early on for the visitors, but Jabo Ibehre levelled, before Kevin Lisbie scored a 63rd-minute winner.
